

He had a bad experience with mexican food and has not eaten it since.

I am not sure what this sentence is for.

What are you afraid of?

She is one of those stubborn personalities that is hard to deal with.

Mike and Clarice argued for at least four hours last night, and I still have no idea what they were bickering about.

What did you step on?

I was curious as to how long the library would be open, so I inquired within.

That is an idea I had not thought of.

The curious toddler continually asks his mother where babies come from.

Who should I take this test for?